

TLI30319 CERTIFICATE III IN SUPPLY CHAIN OPERATIONS

Level-up your administration and management skills and gain the confidence to take on the fast-paced and challenging transport, warehousing and logistics industries with the TLI30319 Certificate III in Supply Chain Operations.

The transport, postal and warehousing sector is a vital part of the Australian economy and is an essential part of everyday living. Working within this industry allows you to apply a variety of skills across a range of career pathways.

This sector is projected to grow by 4.3 percent by May 2023. Employment growth within this industry is fuelled by the dramatic shift to online shopping and distribution, plus the exponential development in the road transport sector.

Upon completion of this qualification, you will be equipped with the knowledge and skillset to bolster this essential sector of the Australian workforce, while also being able to work across various areas and help others with behind the scenes work that will be worthwhile.

With this qualification you will learn the fundamental and essential skills in supply chain operations and includes specialisations for logistics and warehousing operations.

This nationally accredited qualification provides the foundations required to upskill and pursue further course studies in the warehousing and logistics industry or go on to university.
